

VICTORIA KNIGHT

From Seattle, Washington, Victoria Knight has always called the Pacific Northwest home. She is currently a middle school teacher and competitive cheer coach in Bellevue, Washington. When not teaching or mentoring, however, Victoria loves spending time in event production.

Victoria's first job, after leaving college, was working as a wedding planner, and in building her photography business she photographed weddings for a long time after that. Being around weddings gave her the passion for a seamless, well structured event, and she turned to her roots of the Miss America Organization to offer her talents there. As the producer for Miss Washington's Outstanding Teen, Victoria has led a team and production crew around executing a vision that draws in a crowd. Karaoke has always been a fun part of her life, but applying her talents and experience in events to a program like KWC is an absolute honor. She hopes you enjoy the shows (:
